Welcome

Welcome to Nordic Living Water Systems first issue of ~ Subtle News ~ and thank you for your interest and support in receiving this. If you have any technical advice in regards to this newsletter, please e-mail me.

As you may have seen on our website and from other sources Water is much more than the scientific term H₂O indicates. Water is involved in all of life's processes and we only know very little about its deeper nature and how it is functioning in all its aspects.

It is very difficult to conduct research on these aspects in laboratories when Water is removed from its natural environment. There is, however some testing that can be done and more ways will be discovered.

Testing Revitalized Water on Egg Yolks

In the midsummer of 1999 I took 5 glass containers with revitalized Water and dumped an egg yolk in each.

Then I took 5 glass containers and filled them up with regular tap Water, dumped an egg yolk in each and screwed all the lids on.

I left all 10 containers on a shelf in the kitchen with 2-3 meters between the revitalized ones and the regular ones to prevent any 'jump' of energy influencing the test samples.

They were standing there for about a month before they started smelling bad. I then relocated them to the cellar and had them there for an additional 45 days. After 2 1/2 months I took them up to the toilet and emptied them out.

There was a vast difference in smell. The ones in regular Water smelled like a rotten egg should smell. So awful that it makes you sick to your stomach. This is the body's automatic self defense response when the respiratory functions are threatened.

When I smelled the samples with revitalized Water the smell was causing no such reactions in the body. The smell was very different. It was like a smell from some cream or mayonnaise, which had gone old, but didn't stink due to preservatives. Not a pleasant smell and not appalling either.

The conclusion from this experiment is that very different types of microorganisms are present in the the samples. In the non-revitalized samples anaerobic organisms are at play thriving in a rotting environment and in the revitalized samples aerobic organisms are at play in an environment with plenty of oxygen. Anaerobic microorganisms live without oxygen whereas aerobic microorganisms are oxygen dependent.

Another interesting aspect is the fact that the lids were on all the samples for 2 1/2 months. Oxygen was only available in the revitalized samples. This supports the conclusion we received from Cassandra Belisle, Kirlian Photographer, Belisle Management Group where she states:

"What the "Original Water Revitalizer" does is positively charge the water creating a better oxygen deliverance and activating the trace minerals present in the water and giving them a positive charge for easy assimilation into the blood stream."

Hard Water

When you have a Water Revitalizer you can do this test yourself and please share the results with us. If you have hard Water giving you problems with mineral build up, you can test your Water Revitalizer in this way. You take a container e.g. a glass jar, coffee machine or kettle with mineral build-up on the inside. Fill it up with revitalized Water and let it stand somewhere at room temperature, in the shade, for a month or two without moving it.

What I saw in my case was a 1-2 mm layer of calcium and algae built-up, which was dissolved into flakes and it looked as if it would be very smelly. It smelled fresh. When I emptied the jar and filled it up once again and emptied it a second time I was looking at shining squeaky clean glass.

This was from just standing with this high natural frequency Water for 1-2 months. This represents a great challenge and inspiration for an advanced lab. It also represents great relief for people in hard Water areas who has been using chemicals to obtain a softer Water with all the health hazards involved in that method. They now have a much more healthy and environmentally friendly solution.

It is my wish that researchers with access to suitable equipment will find time to research these and other phenomena.

Russian Scientific Testing of the Original Water Revitalizer Using UV Spectroscopy,

August 17th, 1999
Dear Nordic Living Water Systems,

Simply saying, the data we have obtained suggest the following preliminary conclusions that you can post at your research page:

(We did: <http://www.alivewater.net/russia.htm>)

UV spectroscopy studies performed in our laboratory indicate that passing of water through the Original Water Revitalizer does result in certain changes in its structure probably towards the formation of clusters. Furthermore and the most interestingly, these changes are observed not only in the Water directly treated in the WR but also in the remaining part of the Water system previously being in contact with the portion passed through WR. The change in UV spectra of the samples passed through WR are the most significant and the values for the rest of the aqueous system after WR treatment (e.g. liquid from the flask after a part of its content was treated by WR) are intermediate between those for the initial liquid before revitalizing and for the directly revitalized part.

Best regards
Dr. Sergey Mjakin

This research indicates and supports the environmental benefit of the Original Water Revitalizer.

When revitalized Water is returned back to the environment, it continues to impact the Water that it gets into contact with by giving off its higher and naturally beneficial frequencies.

In the home of the inventor there is no longer the usual re-occurring problem with sludge build-up. There is no longer anything to remove.

Prior to using the WR, he would have to remove a whole barrow full of sludge once a year. I am looking forward to see how a whole village or any other smaller community will respond to having all their Water revitalized when it comes to sewage treatment.

Is This New Water Technology Coming out of Turkey Called Perfect Science for Real, or is it a Hoax?

ATTENTION!

Because of conflicting information about the Perfect Science and the true nature of their products I have removed my previous writings about this company. Personally I have yet to see proof of the value of any of the products from Perfect Science.

The information I have received is not in their favor as it stands now. When I tasted the sample I received, it tasted somewhat like soap had been added! I have been told from critiques that soap has indeed been added to the PS formula. I am waiting for more information now.

If you know anything about this company and their products, please email your information to me.

We all need to do whatever is within our power to re-establish sanity on this planet. I know most people have a hard time just surviving in their daily lives and this makes it even more difficult to pay attention to what needs to be done.

The most important thing is to become aware of ways to turn our society around and direct it into a more environmentally responsible mode of action.

Everybody can contribute in this matter with whatever little or big initiative they can take.

You can start supporting your local organic farmers even when you find their prices are too high. I promise you that if you take the effort of paying these higher prices now you will soon, within a few years, experience the prices going down as such products get more popular and in demand.

This means less pollution in the soil and in the ground Water. Also approximately one third less water is needed for irrigation due to better soil quality. Good!

I have for a few years now strongly believed we are to see emerging new technologies, which will be able to solve ALL ENVIRONMENTAL PROBLEMS. Perfect Science (great name, isn't it) claims to be just one of these promising technologies. If it isn't, I am confident many others will surface and the time to surface is NOW.

General Health Alert - Aspartame

I have chosen to inform you about Aspartame, which is used in numerous daily products including diet coke. Aspartame is sold by Monsanto Chemical Co. as NutraSweet and EQUAL, and now under other names by other producers.

Aspartame is a molecule composed of three components: aspartic acid, phenylalanine and methanol. Once ingested, the methanol (wood alcohol that has killed or blinded thousands of skid row drunks) converts to formaldehyde, then formic acid [ant sting poison].

Formaldehyde is deadly embalming fluid, a class A carcinogen. Phenylalanine and aspartic acid are toxic when unaccompanied by the other amino acids in proteins. Aspartic acid caused brain lesions in experimental animals.

The FDA report listed 92 documented symptoms, including:

Numbness, Headaches, Fatigue, Vertigo, Nausea, Palpitations
Weight Gain, Dizziness, Irritability, Anxiety, Memory Loss, Blurry Vision
Rashes, Seizures, Blindness, Tinnitus, Joint Pain, Depression
Hearing Spasms, Addiction, Loss of Insomnia, Weakness
Loss of Taste

Now you might think the FDA has stopped this billion dollar product from Monsanto; but this has not happened. You can read more about Aspartame/NutraSweet on this URL:
<http://www.dorway.com/possible.html>.

NutraSweet is found in thousands of foods and on every restaurant table, so use your eyes while you still can!

The Next Issue of ~ Subtle News ~

The next issue of ~ Subtle News ~ will hopefully be published within the next month or so depending upon the amount and quality of the information we have to share with you.

One topic you will be able to read about is the combination of using the CETs and the Original Water Revitalizer, which will include something about Water's memory and the use of it.

I hope to have more information about Perfect Science and possibly some more results from the Russian Institute in regards to their research of the Original Water Revitalizer.

I wish to thank you for reading and subscribing to ~ Subtle News ~ and if you feel like sharing your thoughts about this newsletter with me I would appreciate receiving an email from you.
